

Microsoft Exchange 2007

Contributed by David Conroy
Tuesday, 05 June 2007

MORE DEMANDS on your business—DEMAND MORE from your server.

At NIKTEK we understand the last few years have placed unprecedented demands on your company’s communication capabilities. Demands to keep e-mail flowing in the face of threats and potential disasters. Demands to keep employees productive from anywhere. Not to mention demands on your department to do it all- efficiently and cost-effectively. Introducing Microsoft Exchange Server 2007. We can help provide you provide your business with:

Anywhere access capabilities. Mobile workers will have the ability to be more productive from virtually anywhere. Through a familiar Microsoft Office Outlook® experience, email, voice mail, calendar, and faxes are seamlessly delivered to one inbox enabling users to easily share documents and set up meetings.

Comprehensive protection and disaster recovery capabilities. Maintain system integrity, protect intellectual property and help ensure the uninterrupted flow of e-mail and business. New built-in compliance tools simplify the process of meeting internal and regulatory requirements.

More efficient and cost-effective deployment. Simplify the administration process and maximize the return on your hardware and networking investments with a native 64-bit support. We can also help you find and fix problems quickly to raise operational efficiency to a whole new level.

Let us help your department reduce costs, boost productivity, and deliver enhanced messaging while streamlining infrastructure.

Take the next step! Call (203)874-1273 or e-mail us at info@niktek.com for more information.